

NEW! VML Insurance Programs Member Forum

---

For some time, many members have expressed an interest in sharing thoughts, asking questions, or simply networking among each other.

We are excited to offer a new method of communication for members. A forum-style bulletin board has been designed with the goal of member-to-member moderated communication. Through a seamless website login process, users are able to access the forum simply by clicking the Member Forum link directly from the Member Home Page.

A forum is an online communication between multiple users. The goal is to create another channel for our members and VML Insurance Programs to share information. This tool for online discussions is another way that VML Insurance Programs continues to present its website as a useful resource.